WONDERFUL LEE LAKE

(From Our Own Correspondent) Campers and visitors rejoiced somewhat as the heat moderated, but the cool breezes made some hesitate taking a plunge at the wharf.

Strangers seen visiting at the campsite and Shultz Inn during the week were Mrs. A. D. May and son, Misses Reid, of Medicine Hat; Mrs. C. Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Owen, Gwen George and Jack Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Crabtree and son, Mr. and Mrs. Shorthouse and niece, Fernie; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pollard, Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cox, Heaton and Dick Galloway from North Fork; Stanley Webber and friends from Bellevue; Mrs. Ernest Bent, sons and daughter from near Lundbreck.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Costick, of Bellevue, are comfortably settled at their old campsite. Miss Spooner have arrived to camp for a short time.

The usual crowd were holidaying on the Scotchman's Flat over, the week end.

The cool evenings sent the Coleman campers home a day earlier than they intended, a wet tent and blankets not being pleasant company on a breezy site.

CHARLIE FRANTZ

KILLED AT COAST

Mrs. Strelak, of Coleman, received word on Monday evening of the death of her son Charlie, near Nanaimo, Vancouver Island. No particulars were given beyond the fact that an accident had happened in the timber where Charlie had been working, and he was likely killed by a falling tree.

Immediately upon receipt of the news, Mrs. Strelak's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robins, left Blairmore by auto for the coast, hoping to be present for the funeral, likely to take place today.

Charlie was a former Coleman boy, and was about twenty-six years of age.

FERNIE AND MICHEL COALS
BEING COOKED AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg is now making coke out of all-Canadian coal, and the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company mines, at Fernie and Michel, are benefiting as a result. Word comes from the Manitoba capital that, as a result of the policy of using Canadian coal to as large an extent as possible instead of American imported coal, the whole 100,000 tons annually used in plants there will now come from Canadian mines, and Fernie coal will be used in the Sherwood Dominion Police trophy.

The International Coal Company, Coleman, Alta., was second in the Codore Cup for teams of miners, South Wellington, B.C., team taking first.

Hill's Ladies' team, of Canmore, Alta., took second place in the Sir George Burn Trophy for the ladies' championship of Canada. Fort William's ladies' team taking first place.

The Lethbridge police team was composed of Constables Downs, West, Spinner and Lechwoods.

Newfoundland will temporarily lose her status as a self-governing colony if the British Government approves the report of the Lord Amulree Commission, which was recently sent to investigate the Island's financial plight. The report, which is now in the hands of Dominion's Secretary Thomas, is understood to propose drastic action without precedent in modern British history. It recommends that the Island's finances be put under expert nonpolitical control as a condition to arranging a big reconstruction loan.

Dr. Warren, research engineer of the fuel laboratories, Ottawa mines department, claims that the bituminous coals of the Crows' Nest Pass would make first-class gasoline.

The old ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cox, near Pincher Creek, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday, July the 27th, at 11 a.m., when their daughter, Dorothy Isabella, lately of the Blairmore teaching staff, became the bride of Alexander Merson Burnett, for several years accountant for the McLaren Lumber Co., but now with the Blairmore Motors.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Larke, of Blairmore, in the presence of the bride's family.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the room to the strains of the wedding march, played by her sister, Miss Norma Cox, R.N. Miss Vera Coated as bridemaid. The groom was supported by Mr. George Cox. For the occasion, the bride chose a very becoming dress of white silk crepe, slightly trimmed with blue, and wore shoes and accessories to match. The bridemaids wore a rose pink silk crepe dress, also trimmed with blue.

After the ceremony, Rev. and Mrs. Larke delightfully rendered a duet, accompanied by Miss Norma Cox, following which, everyone present joined in singing the favorite old wedding hymn, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

At noon, twenty-two guests sat down to a delightfully arranged luncheon. The long table, which was decorated with pink and white sweet peas, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake.

Later in the afternoon, amidst showers of confetti, Mr. and Mrs. Burnett left by motor (which was well decorated with tin cans, old shoes and placards) for a short honeymoon trip to Calgary and Banff.

On their return, they will take up residence in Blairmore.

The Enterprise joins with the numerous friends of the newly-wed, wishing them many, many happy wedded life.

Dominion FIRST AID WINNERS

OTTAWA, July 29.—The Canmore Coal Company team number one of Canmore, Alta., captured the provincial trophy in the First Aid work of the St. John Ambulance Association competitions. The team of Toronto Scottish regiment won the Dominion title. Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Lethbridge, were second in the Shaughnessy Police Trophy (western division), R.C.M.P. "E" division of Vancouver taking first place. The Lethbridge detachment also placed second to Vancouver "E" division in the Sherwood Dominion Police trophy.

The International Coal Company, Coleman, Alta., was second in the Codore Cup for teams of miners, South Wellington, B.C., team taking first.

Hill's Ladies' team, of Canmore, Alta., took second place in the Sir George Burn Trophy for the ladies' championship of Canada. Fort William's ladies' team taking first place.

The Lethbridge police team was composed of Constables Downs, West, Spinner and Lechwoods.

The Carnera-Sharkey fight pictures drew large audiences to the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday nights.

The British Columbia legislature has been dissolved, and a provincial election will be held probably about the middle of October.

It may be noted that among the speakers chosen for the school of religion meeting at Edmonton, are prominent university professors and members of parliament—but not a single communist.

Men, women and children on unemployment relief allowances in British Columbia have been reduced from a peak of 120,000 in March to 100,000 at the present time. The government expects a further decline during the summer months, but is not so optimistic about the late fall and winter.

Jasper National Park

Described As A Region Of Superb Mountain Grandeur

Instituted twenty-five years ago, Jasper National Park from its inception has been justly popular with tourists. As a national park it is the largest reservation in Canada and a playground peculiarly fitted to meet any and all requirements. It is a region of superb mountain grandeur where peak after peak lifts its frosty head above the clouds, where the remnants of the last great ice age still lie in the thick fields upon the shoulders of the mountains and flow down in slow moving, frozen rivers or in leaping green streams to the valley below; a region of tremendous distances, of high waterfalls, deep canyons, and black, uprearing cliffs; yet a region of green loveliness, of grassy valleys and thick pine forests of emerald uplands bright with flowers, of lakes, pure and brilliant in color. An animal paradise, too, where many thousands of wild creatures roam unlooked and unlooming.

She is at her desk in the brewery every day and some mornings she arrives at 7 o'clock to see "who comes late."

Founding Of Cunard Line

First Regular Steamship Service To Cross The Atlantic

Americans the world over are particularly interested in the birthday of the Cunard Line, founder of the first regular steamship service across the Atlantic, first because the date of July 4th happened to coincide with their own Independence Day, and secondly because the birth and growth of the steamship has played a major part in the development of America.

When the Cunard flag-ship "Aquitania" sailed from Liverpool a ship came from New York, her arrival marked the ninetieth anniversary of the maiden voyage of the pioneer Cunarder "Britannia" from Liverpool to America. From then on the large extent the history of trans-Atlantic shipping. The "Britannia" left Liverpool on July 4th, 1840, bound for Halifax, Nova Scotia and covering the route in 14 days and 8 hours carrying 63 passengers.

She inaugurated the first regular steamship service across the Atlantic. Little is known of that first historic voyage, but it is said to have been completed in record time, and when the "Britannia" bearing her builder, Samuel Cunard, arrived at Halifax and Boston, he was received by a public reception which expressed itself in hundreds of invitations to dinner, and the presentation of a marvellous silver loving-cup by the merchants of Boston, commemorating the London market.

Few Canadians realize that Sir Samuel Cunard was born in Halifax and even before founding the Line which bears his name, had by the year 1839 built a fleet of sailing ships.

From the early days of the first fleet of four little steamers the "Britannia," "Acadia," "Caledonia," "Caledonia," the story of the Line as told in "Spanning the Atlantic" by F. G. Jackson, is one of constant expansion.

From the early days of the first fleet of four little steamers the "Britannia," "Acadia," "Caledonia," "Caledonia," the story of the Line as told in "Spanning the Atlantic" by F. G. Jackson, is one of constant expansion. Many celebrated passengers have crossed famous Cunards, including no less a personage than Mark Twain, the novelist and humorist. His crossing in those early days is given in a letter he wrote to the "Acadian Recorder" of Halifax, and in his "Innocents Abroad."

Cunard was the first to obtain a monopoly in carrying British mails to America; to adopt new inventions in hull and engine constructions; to provide comfortable berths for female passengers; to communicate by wireless from boat to land and to initiate in recent years the popular "Red Eye" class.

The story of the race across the Atlantic is one which has equal quality. Many competitors arose and fell and in the late years of the century the race became more and more keen and furious. As early as 1856 the "Persia" made the crossing in nine days while ten years later the "Scotia" crossed in 8 days. In 1870 the "Persia" and the "Great Eastern" crossed in six days, while in 1894 the speedy "Lucania" reduced the crossing to one of five days. In this century the celebrated "Manxman" has raced across the Atlantic consistently in less than 4½ days and even today is the fastest cruise liner afloat. For 22 years she held the mythical "Blue Riband" of the Atlantic, the longest period any ship has ever won this honour.

Cunarders have figured in several episodes. Sir Samuel knighted for the services his ships gave Britain during the Crimean War, while the fleet also served during subsequent conflicts, notably the Boer War, a service which culminated in the magnificence revealed during the World War. The present Atlantic fleet of the Cunard and Associated Lines numbers twenty-two, of which the giant "Berengaria" and "Aquitania" are the popular "A" steamers on the Canadian route.

Making Youths Sea-Minded

Another Task Which German Chancellor Has Set Himself

Making the younger German generations "sea-minded" is one of the multiple tasks which Chancellor Adolf Hitler has set himself. While he has not yet gone as far as the ex-kaiser with his famous phrase: "Our future lies on the water," which so aroused the British prior to 1914, he and his propaganda minister, Dr. Josef Goebbels, are losing no opportunity to bring the German navy before the eyes of the masses.

Should Advertise In Canada

If British goods, even with a tariff preference, are to find a proper market in Canada they will have to be advertised here. Canada is undertaking an advertising campaign in Britain and if the full benefits are to be reaped from the Ottawa agreements a similar campaign should be carried on in this country on behalf of United Kingdom and other Empire goods.

Horseshoes have been listed in Chile as a prime necessity and placed under government control.

Floating Conversion Loan

Federal Government Needs Large Sum To Meet Obligations

Preparations for the flotation of a huge conversion loan this Fall will be undertaken by the Department of Finance at Ottawa after the return of Hon. Edgar N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, from London.

Present indications are that the loan will be for at least 400 million dollars. Such a sum would take care of the 170 millions of employment relief and the C.N.R. deficit with something left over for what may be needed for the present year's governmental operations. If the administration decides to invite conversions of obligations held by Canadians and due next year, the loan total would well exceed 400 millions.

It is understood here that Mr. Rhodes has taken advantage of his stay in England to consult British financial interests, possibly with a view to offering part of the loan in the London market.

Life In South Africa

Refreshments Seem To Take Up Large Part Of Day

G. H. Christian, from Pretoria, South Africa, a recent arrival who will make his home in Ontario, tells of the differences in Canadian and South African life. His children take kindly to the Canadian schools though they have been accustomed to the English medium or Afrikaans medium schools.

A routine day in South Africa begins with tea or coffee in bed at 6 in the morning, whether there are native servants or not to bring it, and continues with breakfast two or three hours later; coffee at 11 o'clock; mid-day dinner; tea or coffee at 4, supper at 6 or 7, and more tea and coffee and other refreshments at 9 o'clock or later. The government offices and business firms alike make regular provision for their employees going out to morning coffee or having it served in the building.

Diregible Coming Again

Graf Zeppelin Making Trips To New York In October

The dirigible Graf Zeppelin will make another flight to New York in South America in October if present plans materialize, Dr. Hugo Eckener, says.

"Negotiations for the flight have not been completed yet," Dr. Eckener said. "It will be a passenger and mail flight, like our last trip to New York. We will follow our regular course from Friedrichshafen to Pernambuco, and then go northward to New York."

The Graf Zeppelin thus far has made 320 flights with a total of 6,000 flying hours. It has transported 8,200 passengers, 32,000 pounds of mail and 47,000 pounds of freight and covered about 400,000 miles. Included in these flights are about ten round trips to North and South America, of which three were made this year.

Was New Once

Sheffield, England, decided to climax its recent progress and beautifying campaign by having an up-to-date mail box in the post office. An appeal to the government brought prompt action and a "new" box was installed. Inspection has revealed the letters "V.R." on the box, showing that it had been made in the time of Queen Victoria.

What Sickness Costs Canada

It is estimated that the direct cost of illness to Canada is $31,000,000 per year. Almost nine-tenths of this is a direct charge on the individual.

In addition it is calculated that the loss of future earnings by those who die prematurely amounts to another $1,000,000,000 so that the total annual cost of sickness and premature death reaches the figure of $4,311,000,000 annually.

It is indeed a poor man who says money is his best friend.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 6

RUTH

Golden Text: "Let us love one another; for love is of God."—1 John 4:12.
Lesson: The Book of Ruth.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 4:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

Naomi and Her Family In Moab, Chapter 1:1-5.—During a severe famine the people of the town, Naomi and her husband, Elimelech, left Bethlehem and settled in Moab. There Elimelech, the husband, died. Their sons married daughters of Moab. Orpah and Ruth, however, did not join in this, both soon died. Naomi was the sole survivor of her family; her daughters-in-law were to her foreigners. She determined to return to Bethlehem where her heart had always been.

At The Parting Of The Ways, Chapter 17:14.—In eastern lands, farewells and partings take place in the homes and not in the open air, on the usual custom when they accompanied Naomi a short distance on her way. When Naomi thought they had gone far enough she stopped her sitting respects and stood to discuss the matter. She bade each return to her own mother's house, and find a husband in her own land. "Jehovah deal kindly with you as you have dealt with me," said Ruth, with tears in her eyes, as she vowed her realization of their devotion to her and her sons. She kissed them farewell and then wept. As the young women both said they would return to their husbands, she remained silent, that they could not hope to secure husbands in her land. Oprah yielded, and turned back.

Our desire to honor the courage and charm of Ruth's devotion, we moderns are apt to do some injustice to Oprah. Poor Oprah is often contrasted with Ruth, as though she were a simple, uneducated maid named Cordelia. It is not so. Oprah was not a cold-hearted creature, with more prudence than affection in her nature. In returning to her native land, rather than to her husband with her mother-in-law, she acted according to Oriental standards, wisely, and even—at last—true to her nature.

Ruth's Noble Decision, Chapter 1:15-18.—Naomi tried to persuade Ruth to return also, but Ruth was steadfast in her determination to remain. Naomi, however, had become famous: "Entreat me not to leave thee; and return from following after thee; for whether thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will abide with thee; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."

"Large is the life that flows for others' sakes";
Expands its beat, its noblest effort makes;

Deeds are grand the man and makes him whole;
Love is the measure of the human soul.—James Buchanan.

Plenty Of Playgrounds

Canada Has Eighteen National Parks Covering 11,500,000 Acres

The recent official opening of Riding Mountain National Park, in Manitoba near Neepawa, adds 1,148 square miles to the areas reserved in the Dominion as a natural playground for all the people. There are now eighteen of these national parks throughout Canada, with a total area of 18,600,000 acres, or more than 7,000,000 acres. They are scattered over an area of 11,500,000 acres. They are natural areas, or wild life, refuge from the bustle and bustle of affairs, and as the population grows they will be appreciated more and more by those periodically overwhelmed by a desire to "get away from it all."

Riding Mountain Park is 178 miles from Winnipeg and may be reached by good roads from the international border. It is a natural home for elk, moose, deer, black bear and beaver. It has a herd of 2,000 to 3,000 wild elk, probably the largest in Canada. There are golf, tennis, swimming and boating, and for those who want the forest primeval trails likely to bring one into an encounter with the roaming elk. These ought to be enough qualifications for any one park.

Eighteen national parks offer eighteen magnificent vacations in infinite variety for the tired worker who craves the open spaces. In a few of them, such as Banff and Jasper, he may dress for dinner if his inclinations move him that way, but for the most part they are handled over to the people pretty much as Nature left them—Ottawa Journal.

Abolishing the Slums

For England and Wales the Ministry of Health has launched a campaign to wipe out the slums in five years. In Scotland the Department of Health is at present working on a three-year program which is operating with great success. Scotland has outstripped England and Wales in slum clearance.

A New Appointment

Col. W. G. Beeman, Royal Canadian Artillery, who has been at defence headquarters as director of military operations and intelligence, has been appointed district officer commanding military district No. 11, Victoria, B.C., succeeding Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown who resigned.

France expects a bumper grape crop.

Saskatchewan Natural Gas

Drilling Commences In Dirt Hills Area Of Province

After $40,000 had been spent in testing the structure, Highwood Service Oil Limited, of Calgary, has pushed forward immediate plans for drilling for natural gas in the Dirt Hills. The company has secured controlling interest in 14,000 acres approximately 30 miles south of Moose Jaw and 50 miles southwest of Redvers.

A contract for drilling the first well has been given to the Sheldon Burden of Canada Limited, work has already commenced and actual drilling operations started.

The company is equipped and prepared to go to 4,000 feet if necessary but it is anticipated gas bearing strata will be reached long before that depth. The area has been tested geologically and geographically and last year a thorough survey by the latest seismograph method was undertaken.

The results confirmed previous investigation and if expectations are fulfilled a supply of natural gas easily available for both Regina and Moose Jaw should be developed by the fall months, the company says, in its official statement.

A great deal of geological work has been done in this area, which has been favorably reported on, by leading geologists, and the present development work is being undertaken as a result of a favorable report on the seismograph survey made last fall by Geophysical Service Corporation of Dallas, Texas, which is the company that did the work for the Norden Company on the Twin River structure, which has just recently completed its well.

President of the Highway Service Oils is A. W. Dingman, the father of gas and oil development in the district of Calgary and a pioneer in Turner Valley, to whom much of the subsequent development is due. The company is strong financially and well able to carry out its undertakings.

Japan Needs Markets More Than Territory

Chinese Trade Is Necessary To Support Growing Millions

Japan, last year added more than a million to her population in the home islands. She now has as many people as Germany on a territory only five-sixths as large; and Germany is among the most crowded of nations. There is only one other big power that registers such annual gains, and that is Russia. There the annual increment is about 2,000,000 for a population two and a half times as large as Japan's. The latter has a death rate twice as high. Birth control in Nippon is as yet unknown.

It does not follow that population pressure in Japan justifies recent methods in territorial expansion. Emigration is comparatively a trifle and cannot solve her problem. Her growing millions can be supported only by progressive industrialization and growing foreign markets. In this sense Japan needs the good-will and trade of the Chinese people more than she needs Chinese territory.

Canadian National Steamships Offered Cut Rates To Newly Weds Before Mussolini

Premier Mussolini last year offered a ten per cent reduction for honeymooners on Italian airways but a few months before his cut-rate was introduced the Canadian National Steamships had come to the rescue of newlyweds in Canada, according to Thomas Cross, passenger manager. The company had announced a fare reduction of ten per cent available to all couples sailing within a week of their wedding day and the offer is in effect again this year.

Occasional Wife / EDNA BOBB WEBSTER

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful student in an art school, unconsciously sketches the head of a fellow student during class and when she is supposed to be drawing a Greek urn. The professor, looking at her sketch, embarrasses Camilla by having Peter Anson, the boy whose head she sketched, critique her work before the class. Afterwards, Camilla goes to the park outside to cry. A hand touches her shoulder.

(Now go on with the story)

CHAPTER II.

"Miss Hoyt," is man's vibrant voice pleaded, "may I apologize? I'm sorry if I offended you in class today."

Camilla dabbed frantically at her teary eyes with a serviette of bright lace. She bowed her head reluctantly. She could not meet Peter's eyes.

"Well, if you think I'm crying about that," she finally managed, a husky voice that stung with sarcasm, "you need not trouble to apologize. You presume a lot to think I even remembered it, don't you?"

"Oh—I'm sorry," he hesitated. "But—if you're in trouble—that is—may I help you?"

This shamed and reflex, she laughed suddenly and looked up into his face as he bent over her anxiously. Her tear-wet eyes dazzled him, wide and shining like a child's and the tumbled black hair was like a cloud around her laughing face where the sun had just appeared.

A man in livery opened the door and scrutinized him.

"Well, my trouble isn't sketching still-life objects," she said, "but don't worry about me. I'm all right. Just the blues, I guess."

His eyes twinkled with a spontaneous smile as he sat down on the bench beside her. "What's a pair of blues—Lisbonne, St. Louis or any particular brand? I might know the cure."

"Just the blackie-blues. Now there's an idea for a new blues song, if you ambitious to write a radio hit."

He shook his head, smiling. "I need all my inspiration for clay figures."

"Oh," her voice held awe. "You're a sculptor?"

"Well, that's what I want to be. It happens that I've studied with Professor Drake before, and am finishing next month. I only went into this sketch class for critical training."

"No wonder you laugh at us."

"Not at all. You have me wrong, Miss Hoyt. I wasn't laughing at you, really."

"Laughing with me, then?" she suggested, with a roguish tilt of her chin.

Peter chuckled with relief. "That's better," he declared. "Whose head were you sketching—the profs?"

"No—yours."

"Mine?"

"Yes. I think it is a beautiful head and I couldn't resist sketching it. Besides, it was right in the way so I couldn't see the old study-object, anyway."

"I'm sorry. Why didn't you tell me?"

"Because I didn't care about sketching still-life, anyway. I much prefer living models."

"You'll get that next year."

"There'll be no next year here. I'm not studying to be a famous artist with immortal ambitions and all that."

"I didn't suppose you were," he admitted, suddenly more aloof. "The idea that anyone could be serious about ambition probably amuses you."

She hesitated a moment before replying thoughtfully. "Not at all. It interests me very much." Her earnestness was almost reassuring. "And you are serious, aren't you?"

"Dead serious," Peter declared.

"Why, I—" he hesitated, then changed the subject abruptly. "But I'm just as serious about something else that I'd rather talk to you about, but don't laugh at me even if you do refuse me! Will you let me understand your quick look of surprise and her hesitation. "Now I am presuming a lot, I know."

"No—why, no—of course not. Please don't think I..."

His chance, perhaps, the only chance he would have to talk with her. He interrupted desperately. "I promise to think nothing, if you will let me see you again—" then with more courage, "how about this evening?"

"Who doesn't know? Sure, I'll be seeing you then."

He saluted blithely, turned into the parkway and strode away. But his smile changed to an anxious frown as soon as he was out of Camilla's sight. Orchestra seats at the Majestic and supper at the Maddox club, if he preferred famous food and hot music. He did, if he could afford a preference. But he couldn't. Such an evening's expenditure covered Peter's allowance and expenses for a week.

What to do, now? Hadn't he leaped into a devil of a mess, just such as he had been forcing himself to avoid for two months? Didn't he, Peter Anson, making his own way to a career, know better than to get mixed up with smoky girls like Camilla Hoyt, whom it cost a fellow a fortune to entertain? He did. Then, why hadn't he watched his step? Well—what were you going to do about it when you discovered that... Camilla Hoyt was the most adorable and desirable creature in the world and you were mad to be near her, at the same time you feared her?

Professor Drake had preoccupied the avalanche upon him; his coming upon her in the park in tears had engulled him. And here he was, scarcely daring to breathe and wondering how to escape from his new dilemma.

He shoved his hand into his trouser pocket, knowing that it would encounter only a few pieces of change. He poked his finger into his vest pocket, knowing that a lone five-spot was folded there. It represented his week's allowance for food. His thoughts leaped fearfully to a small deposit in his name at the bank, put there thrifly and with sacrifice, to meet emergencies. Peter smiled ruefully. Was this an emergency? It was, and it wasn't. If he could bring his conscience to admit the first thought and deny the second...

By eight o'clock, he had soothed his conscience, withdrawn half of his emergency fund—he had pledged himself to return at least half of it to the bank the following day, but he had to flash a roll, didn't he?—rented a tuxedo and a taxi-car, and was ringing the doorknobs at the imposing Hoyt mansion across the park from the art school.

A man in livery opened the door and scrutinized Peter with practiced caution.

Danish Capital Is Lively

Copenhagen Has Shown No Signs Of World Depression

Refreshing sights are seen in Copenhagen, the only one of the world's notoriously sprightly cities which has not become a whit less sprightly since the palmy days of '29.

The Prime Minister, Herr Stauning, sitting in a night club after midnight, perhaps the only prime minister in the world who doesn't allow the cares of state to distract him.

Copenhagen's gallant bicycle parades dash along Oesterborg at 5 p.m. A ravishingly beautiful cotton-headed barge, a dapper army captain in khaki, a mailman in a flashing red coat, two police officials in blue and gold grad, a half dozen pink-cheeked schoolgirls, a porty woman with a Mexican hairless riding in a basket attached to the handlebars and yipping at a great Dane on the sidewalk. College students wearing glasses and carrying brief-cases two young ladies highly powdered and rouged.

Tivoli, which in any other country would be just another amusement park, swarming with Copenhageners anxious to waste their money on fortune wheels and a very attractive booth where one throws wooden balls at plates and soup tureens.

The traditionally lively Copenhagen newspapers, dividing their front pages between the world economic conference and a sensational murder case, the only flap in which seems to be that no one is sure whether a murderer really took place.

The canal at Gammel Strand full of fishing boats and floating fish wells in which swim thousands of flounder and eels. The famous row of falter women, cruelly skinning live eels and shooting at the noonday customers.

A nail driven into the counter of a hotel bar near Maleden Bridge, England, indicates the boundary of two counties, and customers on the Buckingham side can be served a half-hour later than those on the Berkshire side.

Peter stood up to cover his confusion. Both the food and the music were of minor importance to him. But if those expensive items were the price tags for Camilla's company, he would have to tell them, somehow. "I'll run along now and phone for reservations" he attempted elaborate "sangfroid." "Shall I call for you at eight?"

"You know where I live!"

"Miracle Fountain" Still Flows
Lightning Brought Water To Georgia
Prisoners 70 Years Ago

The "miracle fountain" of Andersonville, Georgia, is still flowing, 70 years after lightning brought water to the wilderness in time to save a number of federal prisoners, dying in a hostile land. There is a monument there now, on the scene of American civil war strife. It's a national shrine.

More than 12,000 Unionists died at Andersonville, where there was a stockade in which 45,000, many of them wounded, were herded.

Sanitation was the prison's greatest problem—that and the prisoners who looted and slew their comrades. The scarce water supply at Andersonville was contaminated.

August and a relentless Georgia sun scorched prisoners and their Confederate guards alike. Some prayed; some sang. A black cloud dropped low and a bolt of lightning crashed over the stockade and tore away the earth almost in the centre of the prison yard. Water gushed from the hole enough for all. Years after the war somebody remembered the spring and a monument grew around it. The water still flows between the graves and keeps richly green the grass on hero-mounds.

Little Helps For This Week

"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much"—Luke 16:10.

The trial round, the common task. Would furnish all we ought to; Room to deny ourselves; a road To bring us daily nearer God.—J. Kebble.

Exactness in little duties is a wonderful source of cheerfulness. We are too fond of our own will. We want to be doing what we fancy might things; but the great point is to do small things which call to them in a right spirit.—R. Collier.

That is not a great occasions only that are required to be faithful to the will of God; occasions constantly occur, and we should be surprised to perceive how much our spiritual advancement depends on small occurrences. The unremitting retention of simple and high sentiments in any duty is hardening that character to that temper which will work with honor under all conditions.—R. W. Emerson.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALICE MICHAEL

THE YEAR

I thrilled with joy in May, When all the land was gay, When all the multitude Of birds in field and wood Lit up the songs in glee From mountain stream to sea. When every road up-hill Lured me to journey still, To climb each swelling crest, To cross each winding brook, To the sweet world so fair, No sorrow could be there!

But springtime could not stay, Nor the child-heart of May. Though in life's summer-time, The deeper notes must chime, They sound a braver tune, Ringing through golden June!

And melodic in the fall, The songs of living fall, Bring back memory to me, That the flowers had given fresh water after all fair or so, or the drug may have the opposite effect?—An old remedy for flowers that have been out of water for some time is to split the stems, plunge them into a jar containing two or three inches of hot water, and keep them in the dark for an hour or two. But this will be useless unless you cut off the dead pieces of stem before putting the flowers in the vase. Tulips that bend over with the weight of their heads are usually treated by wrapping in stiff paper. But do you know that you can stiffen the drooping stems with starch? Put a small piece in the water and watch the result.

An Egyptian Pooh-Bah

Professor Finds Grave Of "First Man Under the King"

Professor Selim Hassan, working on behalf of the Egyptian University, has discovered in the course of his excavations of the so-called Fourth Pyramid the grave of a veritable Pooh-Bah of the Fourth Dynasty Stela in the tomb describes him as Director of Finance, Keeper of the King's Food, Great Priest, Judge and Governor, District Director, and First Man under the King. Jars, vases and other utensils to the number of sixty were found in the tomb, many of them being of beautifully polished copper. Round the neck of the Pooh-Bah was a thin gold thread, while on his left forearm he wore a piece of turquoise and a bracelet of solid gold.

Natural Ice Box

Refrigeration problems of the Sedgewick camp of the civilian forest conservation camp, New Mexico, were recently solved by the discovery of a natural ice cave a few miles distant. Meat for the camp, in western Valencia county, is kept fresh by storage in the underground icebox provided by nature.

THE END OF THE TRAIL

"I must travel the miles till the journey is done,
Whatever the turns of the way,
I shall bring up at last at the set of the sun,
And shall rest at the close of day.

Let me deal as I journey with foeman and friend
In a way no man can assail,

And find nothing but peace at the roadway's last bend,
When I come to the end of the trail.

We are brothers that travel a great, common road,
And the journey is easy for none.
We must succour the weary and lift
On the load
Of the pilgrim whose courage is done.

Let me deal with them each on my way to the West

With a mercy that never shall fail,
And lie down to my dreams with a conscience at rest
When I come to the end of the trail."

A STITCH IN TIME

Some people will help only when the need is acute and the one to be helped is at the bottom. Others would rather help before the needy one has fallen to the bottom. Unfortunately it is the latter sort of help which is least likely to be given, and which is the more necessary and fruitful. "The fact is," wrote one great writer of his day to another, "I give what I give almost in an opposite way to yours. I think there are many people who will relieve hopeless distress for one who will help at a hopeful pinch; and when I have the choice, I nearly always give were I think it will be fruitful rather than merely helpful. In a word, I like to prop the falling more than feed the fallen." There is room for many kinds of helpfulness, but the help that prevents the need of help is better than the help that timely help would have rendered needless.

We particularly emphasize the above to those of our subscribers who are in arrears.

CIVIL SERVANTS TO BE RETIRED AT SIXTY-FIVE

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—Pursuant to the government's efforts to reduce the annual cost of public service by an amount estimated in the budget speech last March to reach $14,000,000, the government in council passed an order providing for the retirement of civil servants who have reached or may shortly reach the age of 65 years.

This is only one of the methods being adopted by the government in its economy efforts, and the number of employees concerned is estimated at about 1500 throughout Canada. Those retired will receive their superannuation allowances as provided under statute, and if not contributors to any retirement fund, will be given bonuses amounting to one month's salary for each two years they have been in the service up to a maximum of six month's salary.

A GREENHORN'S EXPERIENCE

(As given to The Lethbridge Herald)

"What are you doing this weekend?" quoth a friend of ours or Saturday. "Nothing," we responded. "Let's go fishing," he said and the trouble started. We went fishing. We know nothing of fishing, but thought it an excellent opportunity to learn more of the Waltonian art from the actions of an expert. At 9 p.m. we leaped into our high-powered car and headed west. We drove all night. Our enthusiasm for the pictorial adventure was waning rapidly when at 5:30 a.m. we found ourselves through the Gap at the North Fork. Gleefully we seized our makeshift rod and, following the example of our tutor, commenced to whip the sea green waters into a frenzy of foam. We continued to whip. We cast so hard and often that the angry grasshoppers which we had impaled on our hooks were shattered to pieces. We envirored over an acre or two of brambly tangles, capturing more of the bait and continued to whip. At 11:30 we sank down in a cold sweat. We had caught nothing. Neither had our friend. We were both tired and sleepy and cast baleful looks at each other. After groping silently for a half hour we drove slowly back on the road which had brought us to this dreadful place. At a small creek we stopped, again bringing out the wretched rods. This time our friend's efforts were well rewarded. He caught a nice mess of grayling. It must have weighed a quarter of a pound. We caught nothing. Then we returned proudly to Pincher Creek, displaying our catch which dangled limply on the end of a notched stick. Now comes the moral of this story. Don't waste your time trying to fish in the North Fork, boys and girls. At Pincher we were shown rows of beautiful trout, caught in the rivers close to Pincher, Cowley and Lundbeck. The Alberta government has seen fit to place a relief camp in the provincial park on the North Fork. The campers have fished the stream dry of fish. There are no more. We quote this moral in the hope that our readers will not go through the same grueling experience that we did, with the same success. Other experts advised us that streams are teeming with grasshoppers this summer and a good frost will be necessary to clear the water before fishing is at its peak. But, if you can stand a little more advice, readers, secure a license before leaving for the west. We have it on good authority that several well known southern Alberta anglers will have to pay a stiff price for their Sunday catches, to say nothing about the loss of equipment. We have just returned and can think of no place more inviting than bed. We're going to catch up on two night's sleep and will likely dream of funny monsters on the end of our line.

A GOOD FISH STORY

It happened at Brenta Lodge on the Saanich Arm, Vancouver Island. A certain young man with an inventive brain was camping for a week in a cottage overlooking the bay. The cookstove was directly opposite the door. On the warning closet was fixed an automatic reel which would snap a trigger which released an arm to which a match was tied throwing it directly in front of the fire box, thus lighting the fire which burned the string that held the spring door open. The fire being kindled immediately, so that the frying pan was hot as soon as the bass arrived, and so lively are these fish they usually give their last kick when one side is about cooked, thereby turning over so the other side will cool. When the campers are up breakfast is served. The hour of rising is regulated by the distance the bait is from shore. Strange to say, on Friday morning the tide changed and the bass went in a different direction for their feed and everyone slept in—Ex.

DEATH FOR KIDNAPPER

The death penalty imposed by a Missouri jury on a convicted kidnapper may make other would-be abductors stop and think before they undertake such ghastly crimes, then again it may not. These hardened criminals have long ignored fruitless threats of authorities. They have laughed at half-hearted attempts to "stamp them out." Five or six good old-fashioned hangings might do some good. It may impress on the ruthless kidnappers that somebody means business and no fooling. Some people pay little or no attention to efforts being made to wipe out hardened criminals, yet when a loved one is harmed, they are the first to yell for "justice." It all boils down to the old saying, "It all depends on whose ox is gored."—Santa Paula Chronicle.

The sun rise occurs half an hour earlier and sunset half an hour later on top of the Woolworth building in New York city than it does in the rest of the city.

We understand that certain barbers, dentists, blacksmiths, butchers, marcellists and piano tuners in The Pass are peevish because they were not given an opportunity to tender on school supplies for Blairmore. This idea of tenders has got to be one of the biggest farces. It encourages unreasonable price-cutting and scabbing.

Every moment since his inauguration, President Roosevelt has succeeded in inspiring a jaded and disengaged people with the knowledge that at last the economic tide has turned. He has more power than any other individual in the civilized world. He controls the banking system as a prelude to its complete reorganization, and by virtue of the Farm Bill can control the production and prices of basic commodities. This wage increase is a reflection of President Roosevelt's administration, since the I.P. & P. Co. is concerned primarily with American market. There is something significant in the fact that Corner Brook, Newfoundland, should benefit from the policy of the American executive, rather than that of its own government.—Humber Herald, Nfld.

Nature's Laws

In these days much is said and written on the subject of planning—farm planning, industrial planning, social planning, financial planning. Economists, both those who have made a life study of economic principles, trends and problems, and those who assume to speak on economics but have only a superficial knowledge of the subject, are talking and writing on the subject of planning. Governments the world over are engaged with the subject; and world conferences are wrestling with it. As a result, people are confused with the multiplicity of ideas advanced, and in the majority of cases, one set of ideas is contradicted by another set.

However, out of the confusion, there has come the suggestion that nations everywhere should reverse the process they have been following of increasing and expanding production and proceed to curtail production. So, we are told, farmers should reduce the acreage they are planting to wheat and cotton and coffee; miners should mine less copper, iron, silver, zinc and tin; smaller quantities of oil should be pumped from the bowels of the earth; fewer fish should be caught; less timber cut; smaller quantities of manufactured articles turned out.

The suggestion is an absurd one. The population of the world is steadily, even rapidly, increasing, and people want more of everything, not less. Why then produce less to meet their needs? The problem that calls for solution is not that there is too much wheat in the world, or that too much of it is being produced annually, but that certain countries for purely national reasons are denying to their people the right to import wheat and in so doing are denying them the privilege of cheap bread. And what applies to wheat, applies in varying degrees to all other products and commodities.

Nature with her immutable and inexorable laws has a way of controlling production. In this year of 1933 when the story of huge wheat surpluses is heard on every hand, Nature stepped in and reduced the wheat crop of the United States by two hundred million bushels, and struck tens of millions of bushels off the Canadian crop; and reduced the yield in other countries. Drouth, and hail, and grasshoppers, and other insect pests all took their toll, and as a result the world will not produce more wheat than its inhabitants require.

Suppose the acreage sown to wheat, for example, was arbitrarily curtailed by order of governments. Farmers would be obliged to summerfall the land not needed to prevent it becoming infested with weeds. It will be acknowledged that the more carefully and intensively the land is worked and cultivated, the greater the production per acre. Consequently, the almost certain result would be that larger average yields would be obtained, and the reduced acreage in crop would be offset to a considerable extent by the heavier yields. Therefore, even assuming that less wheat should be produced, reduction in acreage sown might not solve the problem. It may be admitted that there would be an economic saving to the farmer in increasing his yield per acre and sowing fewer acres. Possibly farmers should have followed this practice in the past, and should do so in the future, but not with the object of raising less wheat, but better wheat and more of it per acre at less cost to himself.

And if man decided in his wisdom, or lack of it, to greatly reduce the production of wheat in any one year, Nature might likewise in that year enforce certain of her laws to bring about a reduction, with the result that man might easily find himself in dire need. Or Nature might offset the puny efforts of man and order climatic and other conditions which would more than offset all man's efforts to lessen production.

Man stands impotent when drought comes and day follows day without rain; he is powerless when hail lashes his grain crops to the ground; he can wage but a futile battle when grasshoppers and other pests swarm over the land; he can do nothing if a blighting frost destroys. But Nature has her own ways and methods of control. When grasshoppers increase, a parasite develops which ultimately destroys the hoppers; when rabbits become unduly numerous, disease takes them off. Man may wage war against this or that, he may plan and seek to control, but in the final analysis Nature directs and controls.

There are men who in this day and generation propose to plan and control practically everything, who declare that old laws of supply and demand, of the survival of the fittest, are obsolete, and should be ignored or overcome. These things, they say, are merely the laws of the jungle, which should have no place in our modern civilization. But the laws of the jungle are Nature's laws. In the jungle Nature rules supreme, and it is a jungle because no attempt is made to interfere with Nature.

Man may, and can, and does control some of the powers of Nature. Working with Nature he can bring about many improvements, and may even control Nature in some of its aspects and workings. But with many of Nature's laws and workings, man can exercise no control whatever. He cannot lengthen or shorten the seasons, he cannot determine the weather, he cannot order the earth to bring forth bountiful crops this year and less than normal crops next year. And he better not try to do it.

The real trouble with the world today is that man has tried to control Nature's law of supply and demand by setting up an intricate network of man-made restrictions, obstructions, barriers, prohibitions, which interfere with the natural working of that law. As a result man has put himself into a huge spider's web of his own making in which he is struggling in futile fashion. He can only free himself, not by a further defiance of and interference with Nature, but by destroying the web he has woven to his own undoing.

Canada's Taxed Property

Total Taxable Real Estate Is Assessed At Eight Billion

The total taxable real estate in Canada was assessed at $8,222,260,000, according to reports received by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, for the year 1932.

Another $1,500,000,000 of assessed property was exempt from taxation, consisting chiefly of Dominion, provincial and municipal property, and educational, charitable, and religious institutions.

Quebec led with $705,798,000 exempted property; Ontario, $336,536,000; Manitoba, $156,794,000; British Columbia, $142,753,000; Nova Scotia, $45,119,000; Prince Edward Island, $32,825,000. The returns from New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and Alberta do not show the amount of the non-taxable property.

The total taxable valuations in Canada were $8,752,110,000, of which Ontario had $3,153,152,000; Quebec, $2,223,470,000; Saskatchewan and Alberta, $855,745,000; Manitoba, $557,103,000; Nova Scotia, $177,216,000; New Brunswick, $153,565,000; Prince Edward Island, $39,302,000.

Aquarium That Is Different

Quer Fish Kept In Refrigeration Rooms At Port Of Seattle

In a frozen aquarium, believed by officials to be the only one of its kind, strange fish from many waters stare stonily at thousands of visitors at Seattle every year. The aquarium was not planned, it just grew. Harry E. Larson, of the port of Seattle, explains, until it is becoming world famous. One day a fisherman brought in a strange fish and wanted to hang it up in the refrigeration rooms. Then another caught a different variety, rare in these waters. So it grew until there is now a collection which has attracted as many as 1,500 visitors to the plant in a single day. They brave a temperature of ten degrees below freezing to walk through the corridor lined with ice-encased rarities of the deep.

It is usually considered that a cord of wood will yield a ton of ground-pulp or half a ton of chemical pulp. This is borne out by the figures of manufacture of wood-pulp for the year 1930, compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in co-operation with the Forest Service, Department of the Interior. These show that in making the 2,283,130 tons of ground-pulp produced in that year 241,298 cords of pulpwood were used and that 2,165,886 cords of wood were required to make 1,076,804 tons of chemical fibre. The average production of pulp per cord of wood used was thus 2,037 pounds of mechanical pulp or groundwood, and 993 pounds of chemical fibre.

Rugby School Will Prepare Boys For World Of Industry

One of the most famous public schools is to break away from its ancient academic traditions to give some of its pupils a "finishing course" which will prepare them for the conditions they will find in industry and business.

P. H. Lyon, the Rugby head made this disclosure at Speech Day celebrations.

"For the first time," he said, "we are to make a serious attempt to cater for those boys who are not going on to the universities."

"We are going to bridge, in their last year, the gap between the school and the world of industry or commerce."

"Changes will be made in the curriculum next year for this purpose."

Would Eliminate Slums

Slums may disappear like magic some day, according to Sir Ernest Simon, former lord mayor of Manchester, at a conference of the Association of Technical Institutions in Manchester. He said a Liverpool chemist, who was an idealist and probably was working for a generation or so, had told him that chemists were able to produce a synthetic material to build houses so cheaply and of such beautiful design that slums would automatically disappear.

Professor Raps Modern Method Of Education

Says Students' Mind Clogged With Dead Matter

Modern methods of education clog the mind and as the result modern young people are class conscious, really ignorant, selfish and arrogant, their minds filled with dead matter.

This slashing attack on modern methods of education was made by Dr. William Oliver, professor of the School of Organization and Industry at Edinburgh University, Scotland, in an address at the annual conference of the textile industry held in Harrogate, England.

"Modern education tends," Dr. Oliver said, "to hinder mental development by clogging the mind with dead matter. Education has become too pedantic, and in consequence distrust had arisen between men interested in education and men interested in industry."

"The idea that education should relieve its recipients of manual labor was prevalent, and it has been strengthened by the evolution of staff appointments mainly dealing with clerical duties. Manufacturers were largely to blame for appointing their managers from the office, rather than from the machine."

"It is distinctly unfortunate that much of the present day educational procedure in developing a class of young people who do not wish to work in factories or indeed to work at all. Many 'liberally educated' young people are really ignorant, selfish and arrogant."

American Inch Unit Now Two-Months Less In Length

The American inch unit of measurement has lost two-millionths of its former length in order that precise measuring in the United States and England may be done on the same basis. The new definition of the inch is now 25.4 millimetres—a difference of about one-eighth inch in a mile as compared with the former American standard. This minute alteration was made necessary by modern precision manufacturing and the confusion arising from varying standards in the two countries. Gauge blocks have been made correct to within one-millionth of an inch. Both the United States Bureau of Standards and the national physical laboratory of England will certify industrial gauges on the new basis.

NEW EMPIRE TRADE CRUSADE IS SUGGESTED

London, Eng.—Proposal to send a group of distinguished Canadians, former members of the Canadian expeditionary force, under leadership of General Sir Arthur Currie of Montreal on a new empire trade crusade to the United Kingdom was put forward by Walter John S. Roper, president of the Canadian Legion.

This "crusade" to boost trade between Canada and the mother country was outlined by Major Roper in an address to the convention of the British Empire Service League during discussion of empire trade.

"Our appeal to the British people," declared Major Roper, "will be made directly on behalf of Canada's unemployed soldiers. At the appropriate time we propose to bring over to this country, with the co-operation and assistance of the British Empire Service League and of the British Legion, a group of our most distinguished soldier-citizens, statesmen, professional men, business men—group which will represent the very highest qualities in our national life."

"We propose to hold a series of meetings all over Great Britain when addresses will be made to the British people generally and to the trading and financial interests in particular.

General Sir Arthur Currie commander of the Canadian corps during the war, now principal of McGill University, would lead the Canadian group, Major Roper revealed. The proposal had been endorsed, he added, by the Prince of Wales and approved by Dominion Secretary J. H. Thomas, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and the empire council of the British Empire Service League.

"We propose at such a time to vividly recall the memories of 1914 to 1918" he went on. "We shall suggest that the magnificent spirit of loyalty and of service and sacrifice for king and country and empire ought not to be forgotten."

The object of the "friendly invasion" would be to impress on the people of Great Britain the virtues of purchasing from Canadian sources those goods they need from abroad and which Canada can supply, said Major Roper.

Under Sir Arthur Currie's leadership the trade ambassadors would appeal to the people in the name of those thousands of Canadian dead in France and Belgium and of other thousands maimed in the Great War to rally to a new empire crusade declared Major Roper.

"The point we shall endeavor to drive home," he said, "is the fact that insofar as many of our men are concerned the war is not over yet, and that they are suffering even now from the terrible curse of unemployment in the land which they so faithfully served and without a shadow of doubt saved."

"What these men require and what they have a right to is to have work so that by their own industry they may carry on as they did before the war."

"But the duty is not ours alone. It lies fairly and squarely on the shoulders of every citizen of our great empire."

Kidnapper Convicted

Death Penalty For Man Who Abducted Kansas Girl

Kansas City.—Walter McGee, confessed leader of the gang that kidnapped Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of City Manager H. E. McElroy, and collected $30,000 ransom, was assessed the death penalty by a criminal court jury.

Formal sentence will be passed later by Judge Allan C. Souther.

The case was the first in which the extreme penalty has been assessed in the United States against kidnappers.

It is one of the few in history to bring the death sentence where the victim of the kidnapping was unharmed.

The jury deliberated 3½ hours.

Would Ship Butter To New Zealand

Vernon, B.C.—The Okanagan Valley Co-Operative Creamery would reverse the order of things and ship butter to New Zealand, taking in return lumber or fish. Directors of the company have petitioned the Minister of Trade and Commerce requesting him to try to arrange a shipment of Canadian butter to the antipodean continent.

High Commissioner

London Representative Has Not Standing Of Cabinet Minister Ottawa, Ont.—Querries reaching Ottawa from British newspapers indicate that the question of the Canadian High Commissioner being a member of the Dominion Government is again under discussion in London. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner in London, is a member of the Canadian Privy Council as was his predecessor, Hon. Peter Larkin. As such he may attend a cabinet meeting but evidently, in some quarters the proposal being made that Canada's representative to the British Government should be a full fledged cabinet minister.

During the war Sir George Perley before becoming high commissioner, represented Canada in London while a member of the Board of Trade.

The argument has been advanced that a high commissioner could more effectively serve Canada if he had the authority of a member of the Dominion Government. Under the present arrangement, the high commissioner is responsible to the minister of external affairs, whereas if he were a cabinet minister he would be responsible to cabinet as are the holders of the other portfolios.

One suggestion made some time ago was that a member of the cabinet serve in London for two years and then be succeeded by another member, thereby always having a representative in close touch with Dominion affairs.

End Economic War

Expect Trade Barriers Between England and Ireland Will Be Removed

Dublin, Irish Free State.—The belief is growing that the economic war between the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State, which resulted from withholding by the Free State Government of land annuities amounting to $15,000,000 a year, will speedily end.

"We are not anxious to maintain tariff barriers," Sean Lemass, Minister of Industry and Commerce, declared in the senate. "We will remove the emergency duties now if Great Britain undertakes to remove her penal duties within a reasonable short time."

Mr. Lemass added that if certain members of the United Kingdom government would "show a little sanity" there would be a speedy end to the dispute.

The minister's speech is generally regarded as a distinct advance and gesture to the United Kingdom.

Crowned Wheat King

Freeland Wilford Of Stavely, Successful Mixer Farmer

Calgary, Alberta—Freeland Wilford, crowned wheat king at Regina World's Grain Show, also is a prominent stockman of the Stavely, Alberta district. Freeland carries a fine herd of Tamworth hogs, a flock of Hampshire sheep, a herd of Hereford cattle and a number of purebred horses on his four sections of land.

In every sense of the word a successful mixed farmer, Wilford will return to Stavely with the wheat crown. Stavely residents, while preparing for a great reception, told how Wilford and his wife had quietly prepared since the fall of 1932 for the Regina show.

In the daytime and under artificial light at night the couple examined each bushel of Reward wheat until he found the sample that carried him to victory at the world's greatest grain exhibition.

Visiting Peace River Country

Edmonton, Alberta—Preparations for the visit of Lord and Lady Bessborough to the Peace River country have now been completed. The governor-general's party will arrive in Edmonton Sunday, August 6. They will enter Monday evening for the Peace River trip which will last five days. A holiday side trip to Jasper Park will follow.

Selizes Islands

Tokyo, Japan.—An investigation to determine whether Japan would be justified in its recent, France's recently announced occupation of nineatheric ocean coral islands is being conducted by the foreign office. The islands lie between the Philippines and French Indo-China at 11 degrees north and 113 east.

Thanksgiving Day

Ottawa, Ont.—Thanksgiving Day this year will be celebrated on the second Monday in October, as was the case last year, it was learned here on good authority.

Viewed As Experiment

Believe Roosevelt Plan Would Not Be Success In Canada

Toronto, Ont.—Toronto business leaders said they did not believe an industrial recovery plan along lines of that initiated in the United States by President Roosevelt would succeed in Canada. The United States plan of raising pay and shortening working hours, they said, could not be regarded otherwise than as an experiment.

C. H. Carlisle, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, said "I am not in favor of President Roosevelt's plan as a plan that would work out permanently. If it works at all, it is a sort of anaesthetic for a bad case."

C. L. Burton, president of the Robert Simpson Company, described the scheme as "dynomite." In his opinion, Mr. Burton said, "the least interference by the government with business is better for the wage-earner."

J. Allen Ross, president of the Wilmot Wrigley Company, differed. He said he thought the Roosevelt plan had a good chance of success, but admitted "the industrial set-up of this country is different."

Herman Treille Captures Prize

Work Being Done Between Mile 442 and Churchill

Churchill, Man.—Extensive improvements in the Hudson Bay railway line are being made in this division in order to facilitate grain movement and industry in the far north.

A work train employing 80 men is located in the yards here. Seventy men are employed at the gravel pit five miles east of the harbor. Five train crews are operating between the pit and Mile 442, Hudson Bay Railway. The embankments on the right-of-way are being widened between that point and Churchill. Ballasting is also being carried out along the line. About 130 ballast cars are being used on this job.

An extension of trackage to facilitate movement of grain at the terminal elevator is being laid 1,600 feet beyond last year's limits.

One work train is making one trip a day to the muskeg camp at Mile 486 where moss is being delivered for the covering of the pipe line which leads from the reservoir east of the port to the townsite.

Unemployed Congress

National Meeting Of Workmen To Be Held In Ottawa

Ottawa, Ont.—The city council has been asked to provide accommodation for some hundreds of delegates who plan to hold a national congress of the unemployed in Ottawa, Sept. 6 and 7. The secretary of the national committee of unemployed councils, H. Sulia, Toronto, also asked that the city provide food for the delegates.

Last August a similar gathering of the unemployed was held here, with hundreds of unemployed men and women coming to the capital by hitch-hiking, riding freight trains, and on foot. Some rode freight trains all the way from the Pacific coast.

The forthcoming congress was called by a committee appointed at the gathering last August.

Flight Postponed

Molisson's Plans For Further Flight Off For The Present

New York—Captain James Molisson said the projected flight of himself and his wife, Amy Johnson, is definitely off for the time being.

"I'm not through flying," the Scot said as he lay in bed in his hotel recovering from injuries suffered when his plane crashed at Bridgeport, Conn., after a trans-Atlantic hop.

Although he made it plain that their flying plans for the immediate future have not been made, Molisson intimated he had in mind obtaining on his return to England, a plane similar to the "Seafarer," the plane in which the couple crashed.

Meanwhile, it became known that the "Seafarer" is being prepared for shipment to England on the liner "American Farmer."

Road To Recovery

Industrial Situation Is Showing Further Improvement

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada's industrial situation showed further marked improvement at the beginning of July. Increases in personnel reported to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics by 8,125 firms were greater than those indicated by the firms making returns for any previous July in any year since 1920.

Establishments reporting data had 776,148 persons on their staff on July 1, as compared with 742,750 on June 1. This increase caused the Bureau's index to rise by 3.8 points to 84.5 as compared with the average seasonal advance of about two points.

British Free Trade Leader Coming To Conference At Bafta

London, Eng.—Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Free Trade Union in the House of Commons and former Home Secretary, will lead the British delegation to the conference on pacific relations to be held at Banff, Alberta, this month, it was announced. Sir Herbert left for Canada July 25.

He will also attend a meeting of the Royal Institute of International Affairs to be held in Toronto, September 12. At this gathering it is planned to discuss some outstanding empire questions.

U. S. RECOVERY PROGRAM WINS WIDE APPROVAL

London, Eng.—Approval for President Roosevelt's recovery program was voiced in the House of Commons by spokesmen of the three principal political camps.

The debate, which turned upon the world economic conference upon the eve of indefinite adjournment of that gathering, drew from Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, the declaration that the pound sterling is an independent currency, linked neither to gold nor the U.S. dollar.

Independent speakers of the Laborite, Liberal and Conservative groups declared the United States is not to blame for lack of accomplishments by the economic party.

"There was no basis on which President Roosevelt could stabilize the dollar with reference to the pound," charged the veteran Liberal chief, David Lloyd George, maker of his now rare appearance in the parliamentary obscurities.

"There was no basis on which the prime minister is engaged in finding the best method of embalming it, so as to keep the appearance of life after the spirit has departed."

Chiefs greeted the statement from the Conservative member, Wardlaw Milne, it was impossible for the United States to enter an agreement to stabilize the U.S. dollar.

Many speakers referred to "the great experiment" now in progress in the United States. Mr. Lloyd George said:

"There are three experiments now proceeding, on the success or failure of which the whole outlook of the world depends—the Russian, the Italian and the American. The American is the most important."

"I hate to use the word revolution in referring to it (the American), but it is a complete transformation."

The debate was forced on the government in order to clear up its policies with regard to such problems as currency and public works.

WOULD LOWER INTER-IMPERIAL TRADE BARRIERS

London, Eng.—Re-affirmation of the agreements reached at the imperial economic conference held last year at Ottawa and the need for the ultimate restoration of an international gold standard are set forth in an important declaration signed by empire delegates to the World Economic Conference at a meeting held after the conclusion of the international gathering.

The declaration points to the necessity of higher wholesale prices and recognises the importance of stability of inter-empire exchange rates in the interests of empire trade.

The announcement marks the conclusion of weeks of negotiation conducted in the strictest secrecy—sometimes in private houses and sometimes in cabinet offices in Whitehall—and is signed by representatives of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and India. No signature was appended on behalf of the Irish Free State whose representative referred the matter to his government.

The delegates declared they were satisfied the Ottawa agreements had already had beneficial effects on inter-imperial trade and the benefits were likely to continue. They re-affirmed the necessity for lowering inter-imperial barriers to facilitate empire and world trade.

The declaration states again the principles of the Ottawa agreements concerning the raising of wholesale prices and notes this policy has attained an encouraging measure of success. In this connection it is pointed out that since June 1932 the price of beef in the United Kingdom has risen 12 per cent. while the rise in British prices of primary products for the same period has been about 20 per cent.

The delegations consider, therefore, that it is important the commonwealth should pursue, within the limits of sound finance a policy of equilibrium to re-establish and when the position could be stabilized. They also consider the expansion of a government's program of capital outlay as a matter for the respective countries in the light of their own circumstances.

The Ottawa policy for the ultimate restoration of the gold standard under which international co-operation would be secured with a view to avoiding as far as practicable undue fluctuations in the purchasing power of gold is also reaffirmed in the declaration.

Ruling In Marriage Case

Alberta Court Determines Provincial Laws Governing Youthful Contracts

Calgary, Alberta—Alberta court of appeals has ruled any girl over 12 and any boy over 14 years of age may marry without their parents' consent as far as provincial laws are concerned, declaring such cases are exclusively under Dominion government control.

The judgment was handed down in Edmonton, Tuesday, during appeal court sittings and followed hearing of a case in which a mother attempted to have the marriage of her daughter annulled on the grounds both the daughter and youthful husband failed to obtain their parents' consent. The girl was 19 years of age and the boy 20.

The court held the marriage was valid in handing down judgment. A minority dissenting judgment was handed down by Mr. Justice Clarke.

Western Wheat Crop

Heat and Drought Spills Excellent Prospects In June

Ottawa, Ont.—Continued uncertainty as to the prospects for crops in Canada is apparent in the ninth of a series of weekly telegraphic reports on conditions in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Excellent wheat prospects in May were generally blighted in June by drought, and July brought a further decline, the report states.

The unsatisfactory conditions are regional, however, the report explains, and the effect on the whole wheat crop will depend upon the acreage affected.

Edge Is Off Relief

Toronto, Ont.—The edge is off the relief problem. A large percentage of Ontario's unemployed have been absorbed," said Hon. J. D. Monteith, Ontario minister of public works, in a statement here.

We pay $3.25 in labor alone, for the making of one thousand letterheads, and the class of stock used by us cost $3.36—so, where's the sense in quoting at $4.25 if genuine business is being used and proper labor prices paid? We would advise everyone to stock up at that price, for the average printing shop, knowing the business, doesn't have to scab.
